RAILWAY CONDUCTORS GAINING MANY RECRUITS IN THE SOUTH.

Proposed Improvements at the Indianapolis Union Station-The Canadian Pacific Coming to Time.

Within the last two years the Order of Railway Conductors has made great progress in the Southern States. This month E. E. Clark, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, has visited several Southern raliway centers and was surprised at the interest shown in the organization. Members of several divisions met him at Atlanta, before whom he delivered a lengthy address, among other things saying that the order was in a most prosperous condition throughout the three great countries in which it had members, the United States, Canada and Mexico, and that the members had every reason to congratulate themselves on the record of the past year, the membership being greatly increased and many new contracts and schedules being made with large railroad companies, resulting in good to members of the order, financially and otherwise. He had come to Atlanta for the purpose of making the necessary preliminary arrangements for the assembling of the convenments for the assembling of the convention next year, and said that that convention would undoubtedly be the largest in the nistory of the order. In his travels he had found every division of the order preparing to send a big delegation and at some points, clubs of members and their friends were already organizing to come in bodies. He had found a widespread desire among the members, especially among those of the far West and North, to see Atlanta and the Senth, and hundreds of men who had never been south of Mason and Dixon's line would be in the Gate City next May. Mr. Clark thought that the future of the labor organizations was very ture of the labor organizations was very encouraging. He believed that the present Congress would enact a law with the intent of resulting in a peaceful settlement of disputes between employer and employe. That law would take the shape of an arbitration law, providing for the appointment of a national board of arbitration, whose duty it would be to settle differences be-tween employer and employe, when volun-tarily referred to them by both parties in-terested. Such a law was being advocated by all the great railroad labor organizations and others, and he had strong hopes that

The C. P. Getting in Line. The Canadian Pacific has practically agreed to accept the offer of the Western lines for 20 per cent. of the emigrant business coming through the port of New York, and a committee was appointed to arrange the details of the agreement. The Canadian Pacific has for the last three days of the meeting at Chicago been contending for separate agreements on the question of differentials and emigrant rates. It was yesterday given to understand that it points, or it would be allowed to make an covering none of them. It was flatly told by all the Western lines that it must come to a point on all things or nothing. It began by agreeing to the 20 per cent. proposition, and there is now a tter chance than at any time since the neeting began that it will agree to the hes of the other lines on the matter of ifferentials. A plan was before the transiental lines yesterday which it is will lead to the settlement of the question. It is to allow the Canadian Paific a somewhat larger differential than has heretofore received on business via Port Arthur and a smaller differential than it has received on traffic via the Soo The increase from Port Arthur is to only on California business going lown the coast by steamer, the differentials via the Shasta route to remain the same as before. The Canadian Pacific has shown a disposition to accept the plan proposed, and there is a strong probability that the association will be successfully launched in a short time after the beginning of the

The Managers' Meeting. The general managers of the roads which compose the Union Railway Company met yesterday. Most of the business transacted was of a routine character. The report of the committee appointed to look into the matter of interchange of traffic between the Belt road and roads connecting with it was referred to a committee to report next month. Several improvements of a minor character were ordered. One is to open arge gates between the train sheds and the , through which, when there is a rowd in the city, passengers can go out to McCrea or Illinois street without going brough the depot or crowding up near the regular entrances and exits of the sheds. The report of Superintendent Zion, of the Union Railway Company and Belt road, was approved, and it is conceded that he is operating the two interests at as near a minimum cost as is advisable.

Personal, Local and General Notes. C. E. Schaff, assistant general manager of Big Four, is in Cleveland to-day and on Thursday will go over the Cairo division. Since the first of the month nine passen-er conductors have been discharged on the West Shore road for alleged irregularities. The Columbus & Hocking Valley company a laying a sixty-foot rail, weighing sixty-ive pounds to the yard, and is the first road to lay rail of that length in Ohio. It is stated that the Big Four management has consented to stop the Knicker-bocker train at Shelbyville and Hillsboro, Ill., but it will not stop at the other county

A dozen or more rate clerks arrived last evening and will be in the city two or three days adjusting rates from central Indiana points to the south and north, completing the work begun last week. Joseph Wood, general manager of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, has gone to Marco, on the Indianapolis & Vincennes, for two days' hunting. Superin-tendent Mansfield accompanied him. B. Fegan, late traveling passenger agent of the Texas & Pacific, has accepted a simflar position on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern, succeeding H. C. Archer, resigned. The Chicago & Eastern Illinois is building coal branch from Dickson to a point on the Wabash river opposite Covington, Ind. It is stated that the branch will strike some uperior coal mines and will lead to the inking of several additional coal shafts. Both the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore thio now accept coupons from mileage books for excess baggage charges. The credit of introducing this convenience is due to D. G. blished in a newspaper. There is something of a stir in freight droies over alleged crookedness in rates on the part of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, by which it has recently secured some east-bound business. It is stated with good deal of emphasis that the C., H. & is the only road which is tampering with reight rates in this territory.

A PROGRESSIVE ORDER | decrease, as compared with November, 1893, of only 1.4 per cent. This is the smallest falling off of any month in the last year. Indianapolis lines, without exception, show increases this year owing to the excellent crops in the territory they traverse.

Addison C. Harris, general solicitor of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, is pressing City Attorney Scott to bring the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton suit against the city, and through it against the Union Rallway Company, to trial. As matters now stand the C., H. & D. is placed at great disadvantage in securing local freight traffic. John M. Egan, it is stated, has been of-fered a high position on one of the South-ern systems. Mr. Egan is a native of New England, and began railroad service in the machine shops of the Illinois Central. The able manner in which he filled the position of chairman of the General Managers' Association brought him into great promi-

There is much significance in what E. B. Thomas, president of the Erie, is quoted by a New York paper as saying regarding the bill to legalize pooling by railroads. He says: "I do not think pooling will be a cure for all evils. What we need in connection with the pooling bill is application to the railroad business of honest commercial integrity. Inculcate that quality and the railroad problem is solved."

Not in many years has the Big Four or its predecessor, the Bee-line, turned over to the Lake Shore at Cleveland as many loaded cars as in the last six weeks, never dropping below four hundred a day, and on several occasions reaching six hundred in twenty-four hours. The Big Four has been handling at its Linndale yards 1,200 to 1,500 loaded cars a day for some weeks past, feeding the Nickel-plate and doing a very heavy business in and out of Cleveland. When the next time schedule is made or by the Big Four company Train 17 will be and between Indianapolis and St. Louis in two sections, one being a solid train be-tween Cincinnati and St. Louis, the other a solid train between Cleveland and St. Louis. The train has become entirely too heavy to be run as one train, and the business between Cincinnati and St. Louis has increased so that a solld day as well as night train is believed necessary.

It is said that among the early change likely to take place on the Vandalia is the retirement of George H. Prescott, superinfendent of motive power and machinery. He is quite advanced in years and his health is not as good as to permit him to perform the arduous duties the office requires. The understanding is that the title of superintendent of motive power will be abolished and a master mechanic appointed as on the several divisions of the Pennsylvania lines. S. P. The meeting of the passenger depart-ment of the Central Traffic Association at Chicago, called to make arrangements for the pooling of all business passing through Chicago into Central Traffic territory, which was to have been held yesterday, was adjourned indefinitely. It was found that there were some technicalities which had not yet been arranged, and it was decided to postpone the meeting until after the presidents of the Trunk-line Association have had a chance to consider the matter. The fact that the pooling bill is not yet a law also figured largely in the adjournment. The meeting of the presidents has been called for Dec. 21, in New

MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL WILL BE ARGUED TO-MORROW.

Insane, but Not Devoid of Moral Responsibility Was the Opinion of the Jury.

D. Kyle Caldwell was found guilty in the federal court, yesterday morning, of the charge of counterfeiting. The jury, after being called into the court room by Judge Baker and sent back again, reached a verdict. There were two members of the jury who gave credence to the testimony of the expert witnesses that Caldwell is insane. There was a further question, however, that if insane whether he was devoid of moral responsibility, and on this point the jury finally managed to agree. Sentence was not passed, as the court granted the attornevs for the defense time to prepare for an argument in support of a motion for a new trial. They will be heard to-morrow. Caldwell received the verdict impassively, except for a spasmodic pressing of the hands to the temples. His head fell upon his chest. There is a general belief about the court room that though Caldwell should be held morally responsible for his acts he is probably a monomaniac on the subject of making counterfeit money.

Buck Harlan and Philip Coup, who had entered pleas of not guilty, changed these to pleas of guilty, but sentence was reserved. The Caldwell case was one of the most sensational in the history of this jurisdiction. Coup was first caught on the street by Secret Service Officer Carter and was in-duced to implicate Harlan. Then Harlan im-plicated Caldwell, whom the department had never suspected. Both were witnesses against Caldwell.

WORDS OVER BECK'S LAST BILL. Commissioners Cut It and Dr. Beck

Threatens to Sue Them. A most delectable and decidedly smart interchange of personal opinions characterized the session of the County Commissioners yesterday afternoon. Dr. Beck, ex-coroner, was before the board as "mad as a wet hen." Last week he submitted a bill to the commissioners for inquest work on the bodies of Maggie Wimmer and her son Louis, who were killed at the Mount Jackson crossing of the Big Four railway, Oct. 8. The bill amounted to $56.10, but the commissioners refused to allow it and cut the amount down to $38.10. Yesterday morning Dr. Beck called on the commissioners and demanded to know by what process the bill had been reduced. After considerable wrangling the Doctor left. Yesterday afternoon he returned again, as he claimed, by Appointment.

He said the commissioners had agreed to take the bill before the three Superior judges and submit to their decision. Commissioner Reinecke declined to accede this arrangement. "But you made an agreement of this kind with me," said Dr. Beck. "You told me to come here at 2 o'clock this afternoon and we would call on the Superior judges. Mr. Hunter and Mr. Harding are ready to go, but you are kicking out of your agreement."

"I made no such agreement with you," retorted Commissioner Reine ke.
"Well, I say you did," was the angry rejoinder of the ex-coroner. "And I say I did not," replied the com-desioner, bristling with wrath. "Besides, have talked with County Attorney Brown about the matter and he says that it would be foolish to take this matter to the Su-"Oh, yes, I understand that Attorney Brown is practically the Board of Commissioners in this county," sneered Beck. "I think you've got a d-n thick skull Mr. Beck," returned Mr. Reinecke. The ex-coroner was at a loss to select a reply befitting this modest compliment and with-drew. He says he will consult a lawyer and will perhaps bring suit against the commissioners for breach of contract. May Have Worked for Nothing. Yesterday afternoon the County Commis sioners viewed the stonework of the Firststreet and Pleasant run bridges, which has been completed. There is now a suit pending against the commissioners by persons who objected to the contracts being awarded, and attorneys say that those contractors who have gone ahead with the work have done so at their peril. If the court should hold that the contracts were not legally awarded the bridge companies would be compelled to return the allow-ances. Judge Brown has both cases under Suit was brought on the agent's bond of $1,000, his son, Wm. Loeper, being the surety. The defendant avers that he is not indebted to the company, and that the contract has been altered from its original meaning.

Prosecutor Wiltsie says the criminal docket is now heavily burdened with jail cases of a minor nature, and as it is the custom of the court to deal with these cases first he will have but little time to examine the evidence in the Smith case. The attorneys on both sides of the case are to meet in the Criminal Court this morning, when the matter will be decided.

MISS LEMCKE'S DEBUT. One of the notable handsome parties of the season was given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lemcke to introduce their daughter, Miss Lemcke. Mr. Lemcke, during his residence in this city when State Treasurer, with his family became identified with the leading people of the city and now after a three years' residence in Europe, they have come back to Indianapolis to remain permanently. The invitations to the party were general, several hundred being extended to friends in this and other places. There were but few regrets and during the evening the several rooms were thronged with guests. The older friends were invited from 7 to 10 and the young people for later hours. Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Lemcke were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Alexander Lemcke and daughter, Mrs. Cooke, and Miss Ida French, of Evansville. The hostess wore an elegant Paris gown of old rose and white striped silk with a vine of pink flowers. The decollete corsage and back were draped with fine Venetian point and bunches of carnations on dark velvet were the garniture of corsage and skirt. Miss Lemcke was becomingly attired in white silk organdie over white silk, simply fashioned, and carried a large bunch of flowers. Miss French wore white silk combined with ceil blue velvet and white lace. The home, which is the spacious residence No. 230 North Pennsylvania street, is filled with art treasures from the great centers of Europe. ings, tapestries and bric-a-brac and quaint and picturesque furniture, selected with taste, adorn every part of the home. Among the guests were some of the most prominent citizens, and the house held as brilliant a gathering as has been seen this year. An orchestra played a choice programme all the evening. The young people danced after 9 o'clock, and the popular two-step was a feature. The debutante, who is a great favorite, was the recipient of many beautiful flowers of all the choice varieties, and these and a few ferns and palms formed ful flowers of all the choice varieties, and these and a few ferns and palms formed the only floral embellishment. Mrs. Lemcke was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Frederick Fahnley, Mrs. James Albert McKee, Mrs. W. C. Lynn, Mrs. William J. Brown and Mrs. William McKee. Miss Lemcke's friends who were aiding in extending the hospitalities were Mrs. James M. Leathers, Miss Margaret Carey, Miss Jessie Bybee. MRS. STEELE'S RECEPTION. Mrs. William Thomas Steele was the hostess for a delightful reception yesterday afternoon from 3 to 6. During the three hours Mrs. Steele received and presented to her niece, Mrs. Strader, of Lexington, Ky., and Miss Dickinson, of Cincinnati. Many of this city's most charming women were there. Mrs. Steele wore a handsome gown of black silk with jet and lace. Mrs. Strader, an October bride, wore a pretty gown of white silk and tulle and carried an armful of long stemmed Meteor roses. Miss Dickinson's gown was of black and fancy brocade, made decollete. The rooms are so prettily furnished that only a few roses here and there were needed to make it more attractive. Mrs. Steele was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Oran Perry, Mrs. W. Jacquelin Holliday, Mrs. James M. Winters, Mrs. Henry S. Fraser, Mrs. H. J. Milligan, Mrs. Francis T. Hord and daughter Elinor, and Mrs. Hewitt H. Howland. At a small table at the east end of the parlor, where a tall cut glass and gold vase held a bunch of Bermuda lilies. Mrs. Charles Reynolds and Miss Van Valkenberg presided and served orange curacoa from tiny liquor glasses. The dlning room table was embellished with a mass of Amer-ican Beauty roses and held rich appointments. From a silver service at one end coffee was poured and ices were served at the other, the ladies alternating in presiding. Mrs. Steele was assisted in this room by Mrs. Samuel D. Miller, Miss Knippen-berg, Miss Duncan, Miss Jessie Miller, Miss Amelia Gaston and Miss Lucy Holliday. All who assisted wore beautiful gowns and handsome costumes were worn by the many guests. DINNER FOR MRS. MASON. Mrs. William F. Mason, of Denver, who is receiving numerous social attentions, was the guest of honor last evening at an elegant dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. John Candee Dean at their home, The Pines There were covers for sixteen at the handsomely appointed table. At each plate was a loose bunch of pink carnations tied with pink ribbons. In the candelabra were pink candles and about the center were numerous stem vases of cut glass, with carnations. Mrs. Dean was assisted by her visitor, Miss Armstrong, in entertaining. Those invited to meet Mrs. Mason were Gen. Harrison, Mrs. J. R. McKee, Hon. Albert J. Porter, Mrs. May Wright Sewall, Judge and Mrs. W. A. Woods, Dr. and Mrs. P. B. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Mason, Mr. Payne and Mr. William Wright.
